Autumn descends on Carmel Valley as the leaves fall from branches of the craggy white oaks. With this season come the crisp tang of November mornings blended with the fragrance of wood smoke. Thanksgiving is indeed a time to be grateful for the blessings with which nature has endowed our valley.

Crosby Fund OKs $7,500 for Community Center addition

Drive planned for added local funds and donations of labor and materials

A gift of $7,500 has been approved by the Bing Crosby Youth Fund to Carmel Valley Youth Organization, Inc. for an addition to Carmel Valley Community Center building.

This was announced this week by Mrs. George Glendenning, president of the Youth Organization, following receipt of a letter to Mrs. Harvey Deal, secretary of the Youth Organization, from Peter J. Ferrante, secretary of the Crosby Fund.

The $7,500 gift is contingent on the raising locally of some $3,000 to $4,000 in addition, Mrs. Glendenning said.

The money from the Crosby Fund will be forthcoming upon beginning of construction, and because building costs of the planned addition are considerably in excess of $7,500, a campaign to make up the difference will be launched shortly.

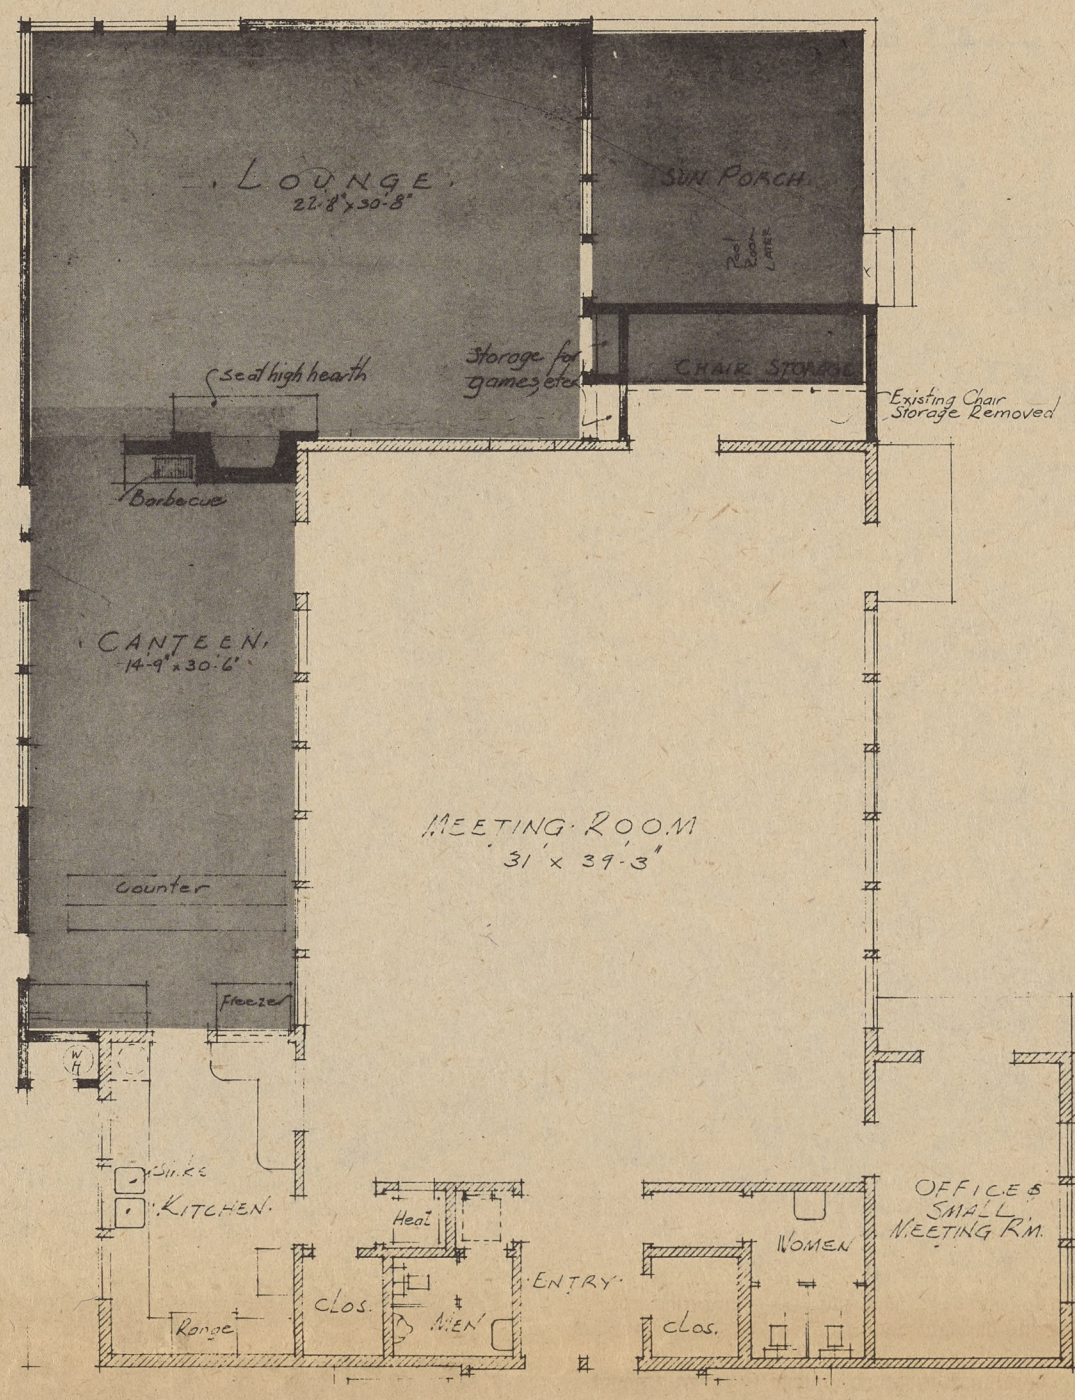
In addition to cash contributions, donations of labor and materials will be gladly accepted, Mrs. Glendenning said. Contributions can be sent to either Mrs. Glendenning or Mrs. Deal, care of CV Youth Organization, Carmel Valley.

"The young people have done wonders over the past year, raising enough money to make the Youth Organization a going, successful concern," Mrs. Glendenning pointed out. "Now they need and deserve the support of the community."

Members of the Youth Organization during their year of operation have raised sufficient money to cover all expenses through such activities as the Saturday movies, car washes and operation of the snack bar. Their efforts have paid for an adult director as well as other expenses.

The Crosby Fund was approached last April by Youth Organization leaders and a presentation of plans for the proposed addition was made. Doyt Early, retired architect, contributed his work for the plans.

They include a lounge with a fireplace, a canteen, two additional rest rooms and a larger storage room. The addition would be along the north side and rear of the present Community Center building.



PROPOSED ADDITION to Carmel Valley Community Center, shown at right, got a big boost with announcement of a $7,500 gift by the Crosby Youth Fund to the Carmel Valley Youth Organization towards the project. Shaded portions on plans by architect Doyt Early indicate the proposed new addition, which will include a lounge, snack bar, restrooms, sun porch and storage room. A drive for supplemental funds and aid is planned.

ANNA & JOE BURGESS
. . .Origins Shop

Unique new shop, 'Origins,' offers handwoven originals in clothing and handcrafted jewelry

Riotous color and simple design are the two features that one first notices when entering Origins, Inc., the shop owned by Joe and Anna Burgess. Located in the Cummings building on Del Fino Place, Origins is the outlet for handwoven original designs in clothing and jewelry made by both Anna and Joe, and a number of handcrafted items created by others.

The shop interior was designed by Joe and is dramatically simple and modern in feeling. This is an interesting incongruity since the Burgesses are collectors of antiques and are surrounded by the patina of old pieces in their Robles del Rio home.

Anna and Joe Burgess and their son, Ian, found their way to Carmel Valley from Pheonix, where he was head of design at Arizona State University. They were looking for a place where they could enjoy a good climate, but since they worked with wools, they also needed a spot where woolen clothing would be popular. In addition to its beauty and climate, Joe and Anna felt that the tourist traffic on the Peninsula and in the Valley would be valuable for their business.

Many of the designs which Joe creates are based on folk clothing. Ponchos, capes and hooded garments are made from fabrics handwoven in the Burgess home or in native materials from Mexico, Africa and India. Joe also fashions men's ties in imported fabrics or handwoven woolens.

Referring to the earrings and beads which she designs, Anna said, "I use any material that is interesting for jewelry."

This is born out in the variety of metals, glass, antique and Southwest Indian beads, flamingo feathers and ostrich and peacock plumes.

Although Anna's jewelry is most unusual, she is probably better known for her spectacular rugs, many of which have been shown in craft exhibits throughout the United States. While in New York, where she worked with noted designer Dorothy Liebes, Anna had a one man show at the Museum of Modern Art. Using spectacular color, she designs and looms rugs which are like a piece of artwork and can become a focal point of a room.

The Burgesses both went to the noted Cranbrook Academy of Art near Detroit, Mich. Anna had come there to study from Hawaii where she had attended the University. Joe continued his art and design studies there after Pratt Institute in New York.

While in Phoenix, both designed and worked through retail outlets, but they are happier to be designing for their own shop—in an area which has such an active craft community.

Our cultural resources

Every now and then we wonder whether we on the Monterey Peninsula are surrounded by so much natural and applied beauty that we have become almost immune to it and take it too much for granted.

Although we have many, many hardworking accomplished artists in the area, all too often they are not really supported locally. Not that we would expect them to make their livings wholly in this area, but psychologically Peninsula residents often talk down their own local artists, who, equally often, are well recognized in other cities of our country.

In the field of theatre, we have many talented and hardworking people giving hours of time, yet with this advantage at our doorstep, the theatres are often half empty.

Our natural endowments of beauty are also so much a part of our lives that residents often don't stand up and fight when some piece of construction, hotel, road, freeway or sign is proposed which will mar the scenic attributes for which the Peninsula and Valley are famous.

Having lived in eight of our states and traveled in all but three, we feel that the Monterey Peninsula encompasses something for the eyes and the mind. We are living in a "small town," but with few of the ordinary disadvantages of a "small town."

We have many aesthetic and cultural advantages ranging from an excellent symphony and music festivals to outstanding lecturers and resident artists, actors and authors. Let's not get complacent about our hometown... it is unique and the people and organizations that make it so deserve our praise and support.

Letter to the Editor

Geologist comments on flood control

EDITOR: In regard to the recent articles concerning the drought conditions in the Carmel Valley, I would like to make some observations.

The combination of an unusually large amount of dead or dying trees along the banks of the river along with possible heavy rains should be a matter of concern. The resulting jams at the bridges very well might be more than the county crews can clear away. This, as is well known, can result in expensive flooding. This flooding problem has been going on for many years, but this year it seems potentially more hazardous and is compounding every day.

This is a drought year. The water company must pump from Valley wells to protect the small remaining supply of water in the dam. The Board of Supervisors must grant emergency permits to allow new wells to go on production. More and more trees will suffer because of the ever reducing water table, thus creating the hazard.

The Valleyites consistently and overwhelmingly have been against all flood control measures. Relatively few of the people live in floodable areas, and the taxes are already too high.

It would seem, therefore, that the water company should be forced to present a workable plan showing how it anticipates impounding the water which flows into the ocean, thus alleviating the problem in the future.

Who is going to be liable for the flood and water damage which might be created this year or in future years as a result of the new wells? Is the water company liable by having contributed to the destruction of vegetation along the river? Is the county liable by granting use permits for a use which turned out to be detrimental and injurious to property? In the latter case the cost of such liability would ultimately be borne by all county taxpayers.

SCHOOL NEWS

EDITOR'S NOTE: Each week, the editorial page will feature a newsletter report by the principal of one of the eight schools in the Carmel Unified School District. Since programs are varied and each school is doing individual projects, this will give parents from all over the district an opportunity to know what is going on in other schools, and/or what problems they face.

This week Orville Rogers, principal of Carmel Middle School, which houses fifth and sixth graders from Carmel and the lower Valley and seventh and eighth graders from throughout the district, reports on what has been happening during the first semester at his school.

By Orville Rogers

The Middle School Parent Advisory Committee met for the first time last month. This committee was established to help us interpret our program by establishing better communication between home and school. This meeting lasted several hours with parents bringing up problems and we in turn discussing some of ours.

One of the items talked about, that of discipline, is one that comes up any time two or more parents get together. The school gets complaints from parents about our being too strict and from others that there is no disicipline at all. Here again we see the importance of communication. Most stories one hears stem from one or two incidents from which a generalization is made.

For example, the loss of gym shoes or a quarter could very well lead to the generalization that stealing is a "terrible problem" at the Middle School. Please, if you hear stories like this call Mr. Chapple, or Mr. Criddle, or me, or one of the members of the Parent Advisory Committee. It might be a situation that we need to know about, and can correct in a hurry.

One thing we are sure of is that our discipline problems this year are much less than last and only a fraction of those in previous years. Teachers, parents and students have all remarked about the "better spirit and discipline."

Middle School fifth and sixth graders attended a "Book Convention" last Thursday. The Thunderbird and Magic Fishbone bookstores assisted with a film on "Making and Illustrating a Book," and displays of new books. They also assembled authors and illustrators to talk to the students.

The Junior Great Books discussion classes for seventh and eighth graders started last week under the direction of Mr. Barry Lastinger. This year, in addition to Mr. Lastinger, we have five teachers trained as Great Books discussion leaders. Two of these are already using the books as part of our in-curriculum Great Books program in grades five and six. The seventh and eighth grade discussion groups will be held after school.

Some of the success of last year's program was made possible by the district picking up the tab for the cost of the books, about $5.50 per student. Due to the tight budget this year, we cannot buy the books for the students and there is concern on the part of the teachers that we will not get enough students. Perhaps some of you can help in this respect. The Parent-Faculty Club has offered to help three or four students, but we are hoping to have thirty or forty at least.

In Short

1967 Girl Scout appointment calendars can be purchased for small Christmas gifts and help the Peninsula Scouts supplement their treasuries. Calendars will not be sold door to door, but anyone wishing to purchase them for 50¢ each may call the Carmel and Valley chairman, Mrs. R.H. Robinson at 624-2890.

Ruth Anderson of Flight Rd. has recently returned from San Francisco where she completed a course preparing her for the position of Welcome Wagon hostess for Carmel and Carmel Valley. She will be visiting newcomers with gifts from community sponsors.

On Dec. 13, a National Geographic telecast called "The Hidden World," will feature a sequence on Pacific Grove's famous Monarch butterflies. The program will be carried over CBS at 7:30 and will show scenes in color from the butterfly parade and closeups of the Monarchs at home for the winter.

LUIS WOLTER

When Luis Wolter offered his annual gift of Halloween pumpkins for a primary grade at Carmelo School, we bet he didn't reckon with their new ungraded system. Luis, who does this each year in honor of Helen Larkey who was a teacher Carmelo, found that there were 55 or 60 youngsters in the primary "group" under the new system, instead of the usual 20 or 25 in a grade. They all enjoyed the pumpkins. Jack "Rocky Point" Currier took care of the little ones by giving pumpkins to the kindergarten classes.

Eighth grade students in Sally McPhail's social study classes at Middle School have become intrigued with early writings and have been experimenting with the making of parchment. Some of them have taken paper and carefully aged it in the oven, while others were ambitious enough to try and make the real parchment from animal skins. This proved to be too difficult, however. They have written their own version of the Mayflower Compact and have made a complete copy of the Magna Carta on this homemade parchment.

CHIP COLLINS

The exchange of letters between the CV Volunteer Fire Dept. and the Salinas Fire Dept. must be acknowledged. After CV had beaten Pacific Grove in softball, remaining undefeated, Salinas challenged them to a game. When an immediate reply was not forthcoming, Fire Chief Chip Collins received a letter asking if they were backing out.

Gophers are in for trouble in Carmel Valley. Bob Lambert of Valley Appliance has invented a fascinating gadget, which, according to reports, moves them out of a tunnel complex. It's electronic, sending out ultra high-frequency sound waves, which bothers gophers in their ear drums, but can't be heard by humans.

Bob says the gadget also works for birds, and could be useful to keep birds away from fruit trees. He has thought about tuning it louder to keep deer at a distance, but fears this wouldn't be practical because the sound would have to come down in the spectrum where it would bother human ears, too. But if Bob can be a PiedPiper for gophers, he's got something!

It's easy to pick out the athletes at Carmel High School the day they're competing in a contest, for they all wear neck ties. The rule is accepted more gracefully than shorn heads for the football players.

Wearing neckties the day of events accomplishes a double purpose. Obvious is the fact that the lads look a lot tidier and gentlemanly. Just as important is the recognition. It's immediately apparent to classmates that a boy with a tie is heading for participation in an athletic event.

"It's fine for their morale," commented Coach Lloyd Baskerville. "The other students often ask them when and where the contest will happen when they note their tie."

Carmel Valley news, courtesy of The Outlook and radio station KIDD, will be back on the air every Thursday morning at 9:30. KIDD news director Jack Parr will report.

Dan Holman, famous local gridder, coming here for sports banquet

Danny Holman, national football star, is "coming home" to add words of inspiration at the Carmel High School's fall athletic banquet tonight, Monday, at the school.

The former Carmel High and MPC football hero, now San Jose State College's football great, will accompany SJS Backfield Coach Gene Menges, who is scheduled as featured speaker at the affair. Menges will emphasize the value to all of athletics.

Holman, son of Mrs. Catherine Holman of Carmel, was voted "back of the week" in national ratings one week this fall by both Associated Press sports writers and by Sports Illustrated magazine. He ranked both second and third through the season in passing offense in national ratings.

A juniorat SJS, Danny was the star player at MPC in 1964 and 1965 when he was named JC All-American Quarterback. His late father, Arthur Holman, was a teacher at the old Sunset School in Carmel and was an outstanding athlete at Oregon State.

Toastmaster for the event tonight will be Jim Kelsey, president of the sponsoring Carmel High Boosters' Club.

Carmel High football and cross-country participants will be honored at the banquet. Special awards will be presented to top players.

In cross country, Kim Schauer will receive the most valuable runner award.

Co-captain Steve Meadows of the varsity football team will be presented the Jim Kelsey award, which combines citizenship, scholarship as well as athletic prowess.

Tom Crow will receive the Luis Wolter award for the outstanding junior varsity player, based on a similar all-around basis.

Most valuable varsity player award goes to Doug Adams and to Jack Campbell for the JVs.

John Rennels is slated for the "most inspirational player" award on the varsity and Bill Thompson on the JVs.

Doug Lang is scheduled to receive the most-improved player award for the JV team.

2 parochial schools to replace Gilroy and Morgan Hill in MTAL

Directors of the Mission Trail Athletic League have unanimously authorized admission to the MTAL of Palma and Holy Cross High Schools.

Final acceptance of the two parochial schools awaits their release from present membership in the Coast Athletic Association, expected at a Nov. 10 meeting of CCA directors.

Openings in the Mission Trail roster expected to be filled by Palma and Holy Cross were created by withdrawal of Gilroy High and Live Oak High of Morgan Hill to join a newly created league in the San Jose area.

MTAL president, Ed Fischer, King City High School district superintendent, commented on the board's action, "We sincerely regret losing Gilroy and Live Oak to the new San Jose League; however, we feel fortunate in having Palma and Holy Cross desire entrance to the MTAL. Both schools have indicated their ability to compete on the athletic field with other schools in the MTAL."

League secretary Gary Ellyson said both schools plan to field teams in football, basketball, track and tennis with Palma also participating in golf competition. The schools would become active members of the league with the fall semester, 1967.

Outlook on Carmel

November 21, 1966

MRS. GEORGE E. FLETCHER, president of the Monterey County Symphony Guild (right) introduced the "Symphonie d'Elegance" fashion show given to benefit the symphony. Her guest, Anita Coleman, is seated next to James Glaser (center), president of the Monterey County Symphony. He and conductor John Gosling, whose wife was a model, were the only men to brave the showing of luxurious clothing from I. Magnin.

Carmel Music Society

Pianist, John Browning, to give concert here

Carmel Music Society will present its second program of the season on Saturday, Dec. 3, when pianist John Browning will perform. The young American artist has been given such accolades as a "born virtuoso" by the New York Times.

In 1962, Browning was selected by Samuel Barber to play his "First Piano Concerto" during the opening week celebration of Lincoln Center in New York. Being chosen for this honor under conductor Erich Leinsdorf indicates the musical prestige enjoyed by Browning.

Browning is said to have been responsible for establishing this work and giving it a place in the permanent repertoire, when he played the concerto for the 60th time at the Long Island Arts Festival two years later.

John Browning, pianist, will appear at Sunset Auditorium on Saturday, Dec. 3, as the second program of the Carmel Music Society.

He has concertized regularly with almost every major American symphony, including the New York, Los Angeles and Philadelphia Philharmonics and the symphonies of Boston, Chicago and San Francisco. This is in addition to a schedule of European performances.

Browning's Dec. 3 concert will begin at 8:30 at Sunset Auditorium.

Domino winners get weekend at Lake Tahoe

Winners of the first prize in the Domino Tournament sponsored by the Monterey County Symphony Guild were Robert S. Campbell and Merrell Lewis. They received a weekend for four at Harrah's Lake Tahoe, including accommodations, meals, dinner show and transportation. In addition, they won one day's ski lift tickets at Heavenly Valley.

This is the third year the Domino Tournament has been held in conjunction with the Symphonie d'Elegance Fashion Show, also sponsored as a benefit by the Guild.

Business Assn. plans Xmas dance

Incoming officers who will be installed at the dinner-dance are: August Johnson, president; Charles McEwen, vice president; Don Crosby, treasurer; Eliot Loomis, Russ Harris, Mary Barter and Bud Allen, board of directors for three year terms.

Dec. 6 preview for Christmas Creations

Sixth annual "Christmas Creations," sponsored by the Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art Association (formerly AFA), will be held on Wednesday, Dec. 7, at the Mark Thomas Inn, from 10 a.m. to 8 p.m.

The donation of $1 entitles the bearer to a chance on the fabulous door prizes as well as admission to the exhibition and sale of original Christmas decorative art.

A champagne preview will be held on Tuesday, Dec. 6, from 6 to 8 p.m. with admission of $3.

"Christmas Creations" is a traditional fund raising project of the Museum of Art, with proceeds from the sale of the decorative items going to the gallery fund.

Boosters 'Boost' Athletic Club

(Reprint from "The Sandpiper")

The Carmel Boosters' Club recently made a donation of $4,278.33 to the Carmel Athletics Fund.

The gift culminated an extensive effort by the club members who have been active since last spring raising money for Carmel's Athletic Association.

Jim Kelsey, vice-president of the club, expressed the opinion that he hoped the money would be used as a "frosting on the cake" which will buy something special for the athletes.

The money has been raised by several projects organized by the club. The Boosters put on the Red and Grey Game and Chicken Barbeque in September which succeeded in raising over $600.

Season tickets were also sold by the club at ten dollars apiece. These tickets are good for all home basketball and football games.

The biggest money raising project of the Boosters' Club however, was a drawing for a trip to Hawaii.

The drawing was held during the half time of the varsity game against San Lorenzo. Jim Cardwell, of Carmel, won the first-prize trip to Hawaii. The second prize, an oil painting by Clarence Bates, went to the Red Lion Tavern, located in Carmel.

The club's 125 members are mostly adults who have a loyal tie to Carmel athletics. The president is Tom Tousey, owner of Camera Craft located in Carmel.

To become a member of the Boosters' Club a donation of $5 (tax deductible) must be made. This money goes in with the rest of the money the Boosters raise. Following this a membership card is received.

In addition to the various money-raising projects, Boosters also operate the yardage and down markers at all home football games.

Under the oaks and among the cacti

By Mildred Hattan

Mrs. Frank Edwards, invited to the Aliso Rd. home of Mrs. Lloyd Todd for an evening of scrabble, discovered guests awaiting to give her a surprise stork shower. Mrs. Todd and her co-hostess, Mrs. Tom Bordonaro, had planned cake, coffee and punch to follow the gifts and games. Recent houseguests of the Todds, Mr. and Mrs. Rollo Beaty, formerly of the Valley, now of San Francisco, had brought Mrs. Todd an exquisite lace tablecloth hand crocheted by Mrs. Beaty. This was used on the party table centered by an interesting piece of driftwood covered with tiny dolls creating a "Baby Tree."

Among those attending were Mmes. Marian Gray, George Mead, Tad Drobek, Y. Ascarate, Ginny Carlson, James Miller, Lee Dufur, and Ronald Whitthoft. Gifts were opened from guests unable to attend, Mrs. Larry Feldman and Mrs. Sebastian Bordonaro.

There were three guests of honor at the recent birthday party for Valley children held at Hampton's Happy Valley Birthday Park in Salinas. Six year old Beth Nolan, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Nolan of Paso Mediano, Erin, 6 and Richard, 4, children of Mr. and Mrs. William Mintzer of Paso Mediano, were joined by playmates for the celebration.

They enjoyed refreshments, mining for nuggets and pennies in the Gold Mine, the thrill of the Sky-Ride, and all of the park equipment.

Guests accompanying Mrs. Mintzer and Mrs. Nolan were Cynthia and Steven Platter, Danny and Nancy Nolan, Scarlett Hattan, Billy Mintzer, Tricia Shepherd and Angie Howland.

Another third place tie resulted at the Tuesday night meeting of the Valley Bridge Club during last week's Duplicate Bridge Tournament held at the Community Center.

Mrs. Mary Drobek and Mrs. Mary Angier tied with Mrs. Mike Ricketts and Mrs. Dale Vandervort. In first place were Mrs. L. Baeriswyl and Mrs. W. Moore. Second place winners were Mrs. Irene Baldwin and Mrs. M.A. Antoncich.

A "Boutique Party" was given last week on Country Club Dr. at the home of Mrs. John Anderson with Mrs. Doris Anderson as her co-hostess. A complete line of afternoon, evening, and lingerie wear was shown and modeled by the invited guests.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses to Mmes. Louis Gardner, Henry Blatnik, Erasimo Belleci, Michael Antoncich, Alexander Collins, Tom Henderson, Art Harbert, Patricia De Amaral, William Parham, Robert Oross, Donald Corona, Mary Jeanne Haller, William Brashears, the Misses Billie Mans and Linda Bunker, also the coordinators-commentators, Mrs. Donald Laird and Mrs. Joanne Sears.

Anyone wishing to hold a Boutique party is invited to phone Mrs. Laird at 659-4279.

Have a favorite cookie recipe in your file that you haven't tried for a long time? Why not make up a batch and deliver them to the Carmel-by-the-Sea Chapter of the American Red Cross office for distribution to the hospital patients at Fort Ord? The longed-for homemade treats are collected there each Tuesday before noon to be delivered to the patients. Getting them to town a problem? Phone 659-2468 and the cookies will be called for.

Spending a long Veteran's Day weekend on Lower Circle with their son and family, Lt. and Mrs. William J. Nelson, were Mr. and Mrs. William Nelson, Sr. of Oxnard, Calif.

The Carmel Valley Lionette's were privileged to assist in a birthday celebration last week at the Carmel Convalescent Hospital for one of the favorite patients there who was 104 years old. Mrs. Serapia "Mama" Ramos was born Nov. 11, 1862.

Mrs. Larry Feldman, chairman in charge of the birthday project for patients without families, presented Mama Ramos with flowers, a gift, and a cake baked and decorated with old fashioned girls by Mrs. Mark Hattan.

Sunday concert a by Youth Orchestra

Youth will be the accent on Nov. 27 for the first Monterey County Symphony Youth Orchestra of the season. The Sunday afternoon concert will be presented in the Salinas High School auditorium at 3 p.m.

The organization, started in 1963 by John Gosling, conductor of the Monterey County Symphony Orchestra, has more than 50 young musicians from throughout Monterey county. They have been rehearsing every Saturday for two months in preparation for the Sunday afternoon program.

Membership in the Monterey County Symphony Youth Orchestra provides promising instrumentalists an opportunity to supplement their musical training. Presented in cooperation with the participating school districts in the county, it is one of the many programs of the Monterey County Symphony Association designed to develop a greater interest in fine music throughout the area.

The concert will feature a wide variety of music selected to appeal to all members of the family, including compositions by Copeland, Humperdinck, Coates, Couperin, Milhaud and Grieg.

There is no charge for this special community program. More information on the Monterey County Symphony Youth Orchestra can be obtained by writing P.O. Box 3851 in Carmel.

Mr. Cruickshank is a staff member of the National Audubon Society. He is noted as an author, lecturer, and wildlife photographer. In 1949 he and his wife were awarded the John Burroughs Medal for their book, "Flight into Sunshine."

This Audubon Wildlife Film is sponsored by the Pacific Grove Museum of Natural History, one of the participating organizations bringing these lecture-films to 250 communities throughout the United States and Canada.

The program begins at 8 p.m. with tickets available at the door or at the museum. Admission for adults is $1.00, students and active military, 50¢.

Project EDINN sponsoring student tours of White Oaks Theatre

Tularcitos 6th graders visit

Sixth grade students at Tularcitos School have made several tours of White Oaks Theatre as part of supplemental study on the performing arts, planned by teacher Gary Lothe and sponsored by EDINN.

During their first visit, the fifty children were taken on a tour by theatre artistic director Gale Peterson. They saw the carpentry shop where sets are built, scenery storage areas, and the property room. After seeing the working drawing of the gazebo used in a recent production of the opera "Cosi Fan Tutte," the youngsters saw the "work deck" where such large set pieces are put together. Then they went into the theatre to examine the completed gazebo.

Also on the agenda of the first visit were the green room (actors' lounge), dressing rooms, and costume room. In the costume department, eighteenth century clothing designed for "Cosi" was examined. The young people discovered that clothing constructed for only a few performances was far from being ready-to-wear, although from the audience view point it gave the required effect.

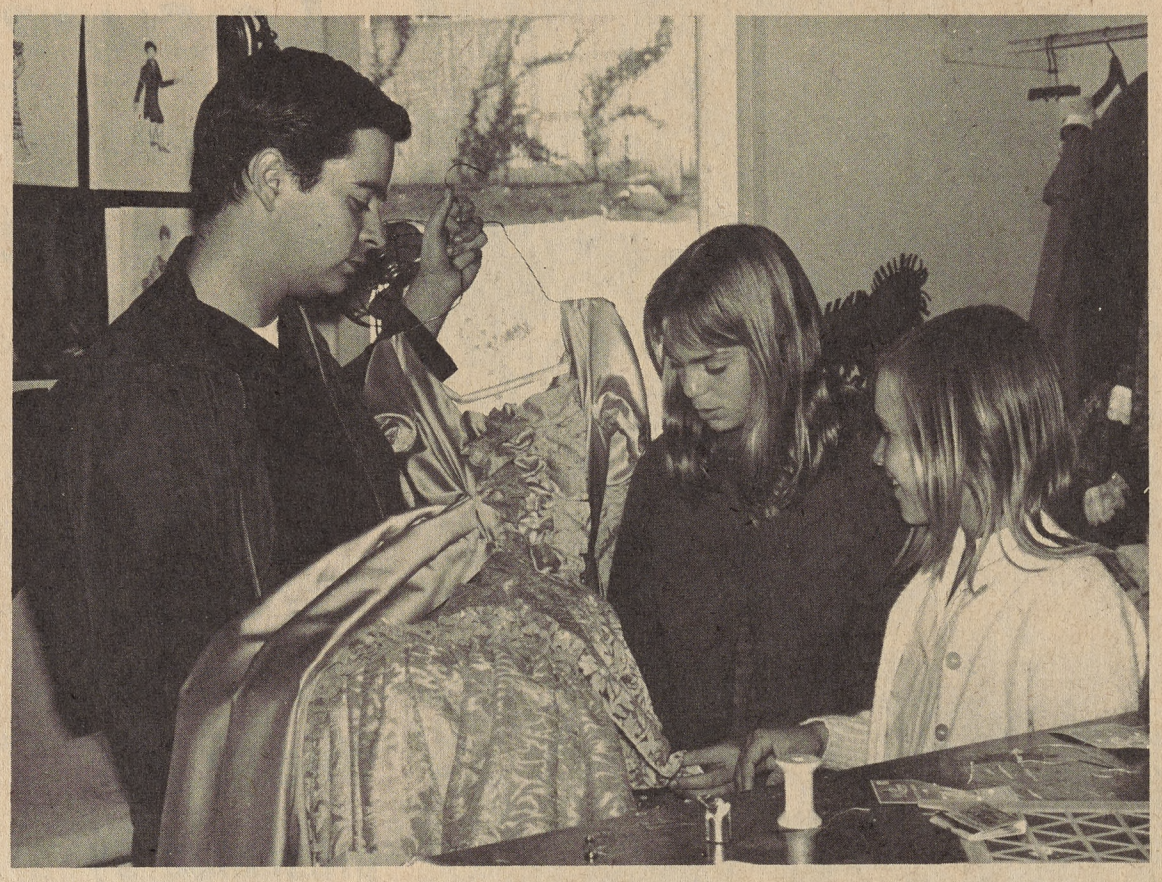
Backstage at White Oaks, the students observed the lighting booth, the intercom system between it and the stage manager's desk, and watched a lighting demonstration. Basic equipment such as spots and gelatins, was utilized and explained. By standing in the lights, the children could feel as well as see the effect.

The next visit, the sixth graders saw backdrops being painted for the play "Rumpelstiltskin." They had followed this from the original sketches through the working drawing to the actual execution of the plans.

They watched costume designer Don Mulderick working on clothing for this children's play which is currently on tour of other schools in California.

The students also observed at rehearsals and then attended a finished performance.

In the classroom, Gary Lothe's students have been compiling notebooks and building a scale model of the theatre. Visits to White Oaks will continue during the school year, with coordinated classwork on plays.



COSTUME designer Don Mulderick showed sixth graders Kim Baker and Gail Nason from Tularcitos School some of the eighteenth century costumes from the opera "Cosi Fan Tutte." All aspects of theatre were studied during trips to White Oaks as part of an EDINN supplemental study program. About 50 children toured White Oaks as part of supplemental study on the performing arts. Teacher Gary Lothe was in charge.

Works of art for Christmas giving

The Monterey Peninsula abounds in exceptional paintings and sculpture to please the most discriminating at Christmastime

Christmastime and art are synonymous in many ways. Homes are decorated artistically, packages are wrapped artistically, people are dressed artistically, and through artwork the real meaning of Christmas under the glitter has been portrayed through the centuries.

Christmas, the season of giving, is a perfect time to think of gifts of artwork. A painting or piece of sculpture have become popular gift items in recent years and can give enjoyment to the recipient through many seasons.

Early paintings were religious in motif and many contemporary artists still pursue this theme. With both traditional and modern art to choose from, even the most difficult person who has everything can be remembered with an original art treasure.

To help guide Santa Claus through the Peninsula art galleries, The Outlook presents this special art edition, with emphasis on Christmas giving. We hope you enjoy your tour.

FOR 50 YEARS, Carmel Art Association Gallery has exhibited the works of its members. Curator John Halloran and Kitty Bates, who welcomes guests to the gallery, keep up the old tradition.

PURPOSE: The Monterey Peninsula Museum of Art Association, organized in 1959, under the name of Monterey Peninsula Chapter of the American Federation of Arts, endeavors to perpetuate the knowledge of and interest in the arts, to encourage a spirit of fellowship among artists, and to bring together the artist and the public at large.

AIMS: Our goal is establishment of a permanent Art Museum with classrooms for workshop activities and with greater facilities for exhibitions than in our present Gallery headquarters. The community has continually been losing fine works of art to other areas with museums. We now have a continually growing permanent collection of the best work being done in this area and of works donated by private collectors.

MEMBERSHIP: Since our inception, we have made a continuous gain in membership. We invite you to join our organization and participate in our various activities. Your support will also benefit the community, as you will be working toward our goal of a permanent Museum of Art on the Monterey Peninsula.

In accepting the award, Nicholson said, "Having been associated with Scouting for 22 years, I can think of no other profession that offers more challenge and satisfaction."

Gen. and Mrs. E.G. Reinartz 'adopt' 7-year-old Colombian boy

Foster parents again

In place of the boy, financially "adopted" a few years ago and who no longer needs PLAN help, Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Eugene G. Reinartz, AF (M.C.) (RET), Carmel Valley, have financially "adopted" Jose Liborio Cuervo, a 7-year-old Colombian boy, through Foster Parents' Plan, Inc., 352 Park Ave. South, New York, N.Y. 10010.

The "adoption" is financial, not legal, and costs $15 a month for a minimum of one year. The Foster Parent receives a photograph and case history of his child.

Every month the child writes to his "Dear Foster Parent" and the Foster Parent writes to the child. PLAN transmits original and translation. Before long, there is a warm personal relationship. Often a snapshot of the Foster Parent, sent in a letter, is the child's most treasured possession. Foster Parents who have visited their Foster Children at home report that they often saw framed pictures of themselves on the wall.

For $15 an individual or group can support a child for a month. This sum provides a monthly cash grant of more than half the total amount, new clothing, household equipment, complete medical care and education. Every Foster Child must go to school and education is seldom free in the impoverished countries where PLAN works.

Headquarters in every country where PLAN works are supervised by an American director with local social and caseworkers who provide instant help in emergencies; constant and continuous supervision; guidance and counselling. The Foster Child's immediate family is eligible for good used clothing, vocational training where practical, medical care when needed.

If a Foster Parent is unable to continue support until the child has achieved an education, the child continues to receive full benefits until another Foster Parent can be enlisted.

In the past 29 years Foster Parents' Plan has graduated 84,000 children, a small army of educated, responsible citizens of their countries, loyal friends of ours. Currently 41,453 Foster Children in Greece, Hong Kong, Korea, the Philippines, Viet Nam, Colombia, Ecuador and Peru are receiving the cash, material aid, and emotional security that come in the PLAN "adoption" package.

Hope from life of bitter poverty

This little boy with the alert, smart face is Jose. He has light brown eyes and brown hair, is very sociable and affectionate with his family. The family lives in a house they inherited from the grandparents and they share it with four of the father's brothers.

"Samper Mendoza" where they live, is a slum area of Western Bogota. Jose has 3 sisters, Myriam (15), Josefa (8) and Gloria (5) and 3 brothers, Roberto (10), Benito (2) and little William, (14 months old). The father is literate, reads and writes but the mother had no education, is illiterate.

The father is a mason and earns approximately $40.00 per month if he can get work. But work is scarce, and for young people like Myriam there is absolutely no job available. She would like to help her family but cannot get anything.

Local charities are helping the family with some bread and milk. They have a very meager income out of which they pay taxes 50¢, light $1.00, water 30¢, coal $2.00 and soap $1.50 per month. The rest is for food and clothing, pitifully inadequate to support a family of nine people. Their need for help is great.

Their house has plastered walls and wooden floor. They live in one room only. They have a toilet with concrete floor and a washing-place with reservoir, also shared with the 4 related other families. Meals are cooked on the patio, on a coal stove, and consist of corn soup, potato, bread and coffee, rice and bananas.

In spite of their hard life, crowded living quarters and meager food the parents are concerned with the education of their children. They want them to escape a life of bitter poverty and uncertainty, like their own. But they need help desperately.

Jose is happy in Kindergarten, very diligent and tries to answer all the questions of his teacher. He is a lovely child. When the heartbreaking poverty of this child and his family was made known to PLAN, aid was given immediately and your own generosity assures the continuance of all benefits. Your valuable help assures Jose's schooling, a monthly cash grant of $8.00, new clothing, supplies and medical care for the whole family. Your kindness will be returned in the most rewarding way, the love of a needy little boy.

Dr. Taylor explodes some myths about college, teachers & money

"It is a myth that all Carmel High School students go on to a four-year college," Dr. Harris Taylor, new superintendent of Carmel Unified School District, revealed in a talk to Carmel Valley Kiwanis Club last week Tuesday.

About one quarter of Carmel High students actually graduate from four-year colleges, he said, and only about half of Carmel High students are eligible for four-year colleges.

"Those who go to college and can't make the grade are really cut off," he said. "At least 50 per cent of our children are being short-changed."

The district's weakness in non-academic programs was only one of the deficiencies Dr. Taylor cited. Others he pointed out:

1. Isolation from institutions of higher learning underscores the importance of more "in service" training. "We make no investment in keeping our teachers up to date," he explained. "We are not organized to use their 'highest talents.' "

DR. HARRIS TAYLOR

FACILITIES DETERIORATE

2. To bring school physical facilities to an acceptable level will cost $379,000, a recent survey shows. Some facilities haven't been painted in 20 years. Injuries have resulted from holes in pavement. Shortage of maintenance people results in such things as trees and shrubs dying because people can't be afforded to water them.

3. Both the high school and middle school are running out of space of all kinds, the superintendent said. The high school library is much too small, its collections mediocre and a shortage exists of trained librarians.

4. "The music program is weak in the elementary schools; humanities program is fair; health instruction program is weak."

5. Although in "fair supply," tools of learning—audio-visual equipment, books, library facilities—lack district coordination in use.

HIGH LIVING COSTS

6. High living costs in the area mean that teachers can do better monetarily in many other districts. High cost of living here—from 20 to 50% higher than in many other districts—forces many teachers to live elsewhere and commute.

7. In a large district like the Carmel District – 594 square miles—"we need more people to work with teachers and help them in instructional strategy."

8. Although some 75 children with learning and disciplinary problems qualify for special education which the state will help subsidize, the Carmel District hasn't the psychological services the state requires to get the program started.

9. There is a lack of male teachers, particularly in the elementary schools. Because of a large number of families with one parent, usually the mother, raising the children, more male teachers as "models" for students would be valuable, Dr. Taylor explained.

POTENTIALITIES

"This is good but not an outstanding district," he said, "though it has potentialities for the latter."

Dr. Taylor who came here from Carlsbad, Calif., succeeded Medill Bair as superintendent this summer.

"It is time for the people to take a good, hard look at the assessment of strengths and weaknesses now being made, to apply some systems analysis techniques and decide how best to meet the goal of giving each child an education commensurate with his individual ability. To short-change our children now is to short-change our country in the future.

"We had better start mobilizing our forces now to remedy the deficiencies in the Carmel Unified School District."

Competition for table decorations

A personal invitation has been extended to the members of the Carmel Valley Garden Association and any other Valley residents to enter the competition in table decorating at the "Table Fashion Tea and Bazaar" to be given Feb. 18 by the Monterey Methodist Church. There is no entry fee and rules allow the entrant to decorate a table 13 x 72 in any manner. Ribbons will be awarded for the Most Beautiful and the Most Original. A $25 award will be presented to the table voted the "Most Popular" by those in attendance.

Due to limited space, entries must be made by Dec. 1. The tea will be held between 1 and 4 on the 18th. Admission is $1.00 donation, 50¢ for children, and a nursery will be provided.

For further details, phone Mrs. Irving Ollason, 659-4440.

Carmel Valley Manor's Mrs. Elmer Breckenfeld bases her young adult books on her own experiences

Mrs. Elmer Breckenfeld, who has made a name for herself in young adult fiction as author Vivian Breck, has a gay red door on her Carmel Valley Manor apartment, her home since the Manor opened in October, 1963.

Inside is cosy with books and pictures, an enormous grandfather clock and other cherished possessions from a house in Berkeley, her home for 42 years.

When we talked with her she was preparing for a trip to

MRS. BRECKENFELD

Mexico with 7 other Manor residents. She'll be gone until after Christmas, spending the holidays in Long Beach with the family of her younger son who is an engineer with Shell Oil. (An older son is a writer for Time Magazine in New York City. She has three granddaughters aged 11, 13 and 21.

Born in San Francisco, Vivian Gerney spent 5 years of her childhood in Mexico. This will be her first trip back. A brief visit to Culiacan on the west coast will be as close to her childhood home as she will get this time. Her father was a metalurgist and 10 miles by mule-back out of that city was his base of operations.

When she was nine her family moved to Berkeley where her father did research in his field. She attended Anna Head School and went on to Vassar. She met Elmer Breckenfeld when she returned to Berkeley for a master's degree.

Vivian first came to Carmel at the age of ten for a holiday. "Nothing there then but the Pine Inn and some portable houses," she recalls. Later she and her husband spent many vacations there and when the stairs and gardens at Berkeley could no longer be coped with, they came to the Manor which they had watched abuilding.

VIVIAN BRECK of Carmel Valley Manor has written another romantic teen-age book, "The Two Worlds of Noriko," just published by Doubleday. Above is the jacket painting by Kiyoaki Komoda for the book, which contrasts life for a 21-year-old girl in modern California and the tradition-bound world of her Japanese-born parents. The book is in the same style as her successful "Maggie," published in 1954.

She began writing when her children were small. Three of her books stem from family experiences on Sierra Club trips (three generations of Breckenfelds are members, she pointed out). "High Trail" tells of a pack trip in the Mt. Whitney country; "Hoof Beats on the Trail" was inspired by adventures in the Sierra Nevada, and "White Waters" tells of a float boat trip on the Green River.

Portraying authentic locations is Vivan Breck's forte. "Kona Summer," one of her most successful books, won praise in Hawaii. An earlier book, "Maggie" is set in Mexico and is based on the life of her mother.

Her latest work, "The Two Worlds of Noricko" stems directly from her friendship with a young Nisei student who lived with the Breckenfelds in Berkeley. It narrates the problems of a Buddhist girl with deep roots in Japan but with her heart in California.

The book encompasses the beauties of Monterey Bay and Pt. Lobos as well as taking young readers to Japan for a glimpse into life in a remote village.

"Noricko" was written at Carmel Valley Manor while her husband was very ill. She says that the warmth and friendship and sense of real support she found there at this time and for months after his death last summer is something she will always treasure.

Vivian Breck means to keep on writing, perhaps next time for people her own age...the friends she has found here and all along her busy way.

Cookery Corner

JUNE VAN HAGEN, whose husband Ken is noted for his work with Little League (which in these parts is famed for teriyaki steak, the recipe for which we are on the track of), says she got these recipes where most girls get their best advice...from mother. They are easy to do but look and taste very special.

CREAM PUFFS

1 cup water
1/2 cup butter
1/2 tsp. salt
1 cup flour
4 eggs

Bring water and butter to a boil. Add flour and stir until mixture leaves the sides of the pot. Cool for 10 minutes. Stir in eggs one at a time. Drop on cookie sheet by the teaspoonful (much smaller amounts if used for appetizers).

Bake in a 375 degree oven for 30 minutes.

Fill with whipped cream and sprinkle with powdered sugar. If you want to gild the lily, ice with chocolate frosting. June recommends chicken salad as a filling for tiny puffs.

CHESS PIE

1/4 lb. butter
1 cup sugar
2 beaten eggs
1 tsp. vanilla
1 cup chopped walnuts
1 cup raisins

Cook raisins in small amount of water until soft and puffy. Combine all ingredients and pour into unbaked pie shell. Bake for 1 hour at 325 degrees. This is rich even more so, topped with whipped cream for holiday occasions.

Committee members assisting with the luncheon meeting include Mmes. Ernest Etherton, Peter Girard, Joseph Blacow, William Wood, George Eastman, Walter Busher, H.G. Wild, Guy Freeman, James Cecka, Ruth Anderson, S.N. Trevino, John Dryden, H.K. Fleming, James Stewart, and Miss Bessie Irvin.

Mrs. Jack Corry has returned to her home in Canada after a full week of sightseeing on the Peninsula. Mrs. Corry had accepted an invitation from her brother and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. S. Gordon Brown when they telephoned her in Vancouver, B.C., to fly down and celebrate her birthday in Hitchcock Canyon. A surprise dinner party Tuesday evening down the coast at Rocky Point was given in her honor.

Lisa Brill presented guests attending the beach party celebrating her recent birthday with appropriate packets of tiny sea shells for favors. Mr. and Mrs. Don Brill prepared a hot dog roast complete with all the trimmings and a pink birthday cake for their daughter's Valley friends and classmates from Santa Catalina.

A special guest was her grandmother, Mrs. Donald H. Brill who was visiting her son and family from her home in Chelmsford, Mass.

A Rocky Mountain buck with a four point antler spread of 32" was one of the two deer bagged by Boyd Danielson on a recent hunting trip in the mountains near Craig, Colo. Rightfully proud of this outstanding trophy, Boyd took it to be mounted and the taxidermist sent the skull to authorities to see if measurements would not qualify it for entry in the "Boone and Crockett Trophy Record."

The Danielsons stayed with Milda's nephew and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Henderson. In addition to deer hunting they had planned to go into the high country to fill their elk tags. However, while fishing for trout on a river bank fourteen miles from Craig, they were caught in an early snow fall. Big soft flakes piled up rapidly and though the weather remained nice from then on, it had made road access to the elk country impassable.

Enroute to and from Colorado, they visited and fished in Sacramento with former Valley residents, Mildred and Jess Vinson and Margaret and Hugh Erwin.

Another trophy deer shot by a Valleyite in Colorado was the 250 lb. buck said to have had more points than any other buck checked through Elko, Nev., this season.

William Dickens of Garzas Rd. was the hunter who shot the huge animal near Glenwood Springs. The antlers sported 13 points on one side and 12 points on the other.

Valley first aid and fire calls

CV Volunteer Firemen received a 2 a.m. phone call from San Francisco during the week from Linda Boblitt of La Ventana who expressed concern that potatoes were left cooking on her stove. Investigating firemen discovered the burner off under the potatoes, but turned off the oven left on "warm."

The Wolter Ranch on El Caminito was the scene of a nighttime fire when it was reported an old automobile on the property was burning. Damage was confined to the auto. Teenagers were reported seen leaving the property.

Accumulated soot resulted in a chimney fire at the James G. Yuma residence on River Rd. The blaze was extinguished by Valley firemen with no reported damage.

A heating pump with an overheated motor took firemen to the Laurel Dr. residence of A. Garner where they turned off power and advised repairs.

No damage resulted in the minor explosion caused by a furnace gas leak at the Village Market. Firemen shut off gas and advised repairs.

The first aid squad answered a medical emergency on Middle Canyon Rd. where Carol Frisbie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Frisbie was cared for by firemen until a physician arrived on the scene.

Mrs. Grace Caldwell of Calle de la Ventana was transported to the Community Hospital by the first aid crew under advice of Mrs. Caldwell's physician.

$50,000 in prizes for youth

CV Lions receive 15 entries in Peace Essay Contest

Fifteen entries have been received to date by the Carmel Valley Lions Club, sponsors of the local World Peace Essay Contest, according to club president William Stowers.

Students from Carmel High School, Robert Louis Stevenson, York School and Monterey Peninsula College still have time to enter before the Dec. 10 deadline. Each school principal has entry forms.

The Carmel Valley Lions Club, together with Lions Clubs throughout the world, is sponsoring a world-wide essay contest for the world's youth on the most important world subject today—Peace. The contest offers $50,000 in total awards, including the $25,000 first prize, eight semi-final world regional awards of $1,000 each and travel expenses for the eight winners to Chicago, Illinois in July, 1967. At that time, the first prize winner will be chosen from the eight. Also, more than 20,000 local, district and multiple district awards will be made.

The contest is open to young people who will be 14 but less than 22 years of age as of January 15, 1967.

"Our Club's winner will advance to Lions District 4 competition in his (her) effort to qualify for the mulptiple district contest," Lions President Stowers said.

The contest, sponsored by more than 20,000 Lions Clubs in more than 130 countries in the free world, will be the largest Peace Essay Contest in the world today.

"The purpose of the contest is to develop a formula for world peace because we feel peace is attainable. We want to alert our youth to the need for world peace and focus attention on that important goal," Stowers said.

Contestants should submit their entry in essay form, not to exceed 5,000 words.

"Judging will fall into four categories: 75 per cent of the essay's points will be devoted to content, ten per cent to organization, ten per cent to style and five per cent to mechanics," according to Bill.

(The mechanics segment will be used to appraise the grammatical construction of the essay.)

"Three judges have been appointed to evaluate the entries submitted. If our winner can advance through the judging stages up to the world finals he will receive an expense paid trip to Chicago to attend the Lions International 50th Annual Convention for the final judging of his essay in addition to the $1,000 award." Closing date for the club's contest is Dec. 10, 1966.

"Students wishing to enter the contest should contact one of the Carmel Valley Lions to get full details of the contest," he said. Entries may be mailed to Carmel Valley Lions Club c/o William Stowers, Country Club Dr., Carmel Valley. Entrants must live in the Carmel Valley area—between Highway 1 and Cachagua.

Students living in Carmel may enter the contest sponsored by the Carmel Lions Club.

Valley dope raid nets seven at Panetta Road house Tuesday

Carmel Valley was one of five Peninsula areas which figured in dope raids during the past week. Seven persons were arrested in and near a house at 68 Panetta Rd., about 11 p.m., Tuesday evening. Occupants of the house were Jason Heller, 20, and Stephen Smith, 21.

Arrested in addition to Smith and Heller were Lyle Tannehill, 19, of Pebble Beach; Jan Annis, 21, and Douglas Foltz, 23, and Sandra Mirada, 19, all of Carmel, and Gene Bernhardt, 25, from Jupiter Horse Ranch in Carmel Valley.

Officers from four law enforcement agencies on the Peninsula worked jointly in the raids which also resulted in arrests in Pacific Grove, Monterey, Seaside and Marina.

In the Valley raid, an informer working with police made a purchase of marijuana from the occupants at Panetta Rd. prior to the capture of the suspects. When the deputies approached the house, two at the front and one at the back door, they received no answer.

They forced the door, found six persons in the house along with a quantity of marijuana and capsules which were believed to contain LSD. Bernhardt tried to elude the officers but was caught when he fell while climbing a nearby fence.

In addition to the suspected LSD and marijuana, other accouterments of drug users were confiscated from the house, including cigarettes, a scale, sifter, and a pipe containing burned marijuana.

Bail was posted at $1,000 for each of the seven who were arraigned in Municipal Court Thursday.

Listen to Carmel Valley news every Thursday morning at 9:30 over radio station KIDD. News director Jack Parr broadcasts in cooperation with the Carmel Valley Outlook.
